EACH CAN LEND A HAND

Corporate by-laws can make uncommonly dull reading. They are usually composed by the legal fraternity of the kind of verbiage whose sections, sub-sections, articles and amendments remind a fox-hunter of a flight of 5'-0" fences on an improperly schooled horse. When a neat package from the International Equestrian Competitions Corporation arrived in the mail last week marked BY-LAWS this department was therefore prepared to take back, mark the package for filing and rest, happy in the belief that the corporation had employed good legal talent in the form of Robert Henry and there need be no cause to delve further.

Curiosity getting the better of natural caution, the preamble was duly opened and read. It began to make sense and was simple enough. It read as follows: "Desiring to provide teams representing the United States of America in equestrian events in the Olympic games and in all international competitions, the following by-laws of the International Equestrian Competitions Corp. are hereby enacted".

This seemed self-explanatory and was followed by Article 1, entitled Membership: "There shall be six classes of members, regular, firm, contributing, patron, supporting and honorary, and under Eligibility there followed still another plain statement of fact: "All persons, firms, associations or corporations whether or not resident in the United States who subscribe to the purposes of this organization are eligible to become members thereof."

From here on, sentence followed sentence in simple, concise language explaining the organizational set up of a corporation, non-profit in motive, whose function is that of gathering sufficient funds from its various classes of members to allow it to finance the most representative team of amateur horsemen which can be collected together in this country at one time for the sole purpose of winning the Olympic events in 1952 for the United States.

Most horsemen are already familiar with the 10 zones, each under a vice-president of the corporation and each charged with setting up zone organizations to carry out the activities of the corporation in his or her particular zone. Members of the corporation are automatically members of the zone in which each resides and as such shall help to the best of their ability to select the most representative horsemen in their zone to compete for the corporation's United State Team.

The kernel of this whole idea must of necessity rest in the strength of its membership. This organization for such a complex function as the selection of the best team of horsemen in the United States is a masterpiece of simplicity. There is nothing technical wordy or overly legal about it. It is a nicely described piece of machinery to develop a team of United States horsemen where there is no team and to send that team abroad in 1952 equipped and schooled to represent our country and win the Olympics.

To get down to brass tacks the corporation invites members under the following classification: Patron members are any individual, firm, association or corporation that will pay $500 to the corporation; contributing members are those who will pay $200 a year; firm members are those who will pay $100 annually; regular members are those individuals who will make an annual payment of $5.00 and supporting members are those who will pay $1.00. This organization is non-profit and as such the contributions of its members are expected to be tax-free. In short every horseman in the United States should be a member of this corporation. If the zone committees properly canvas each of their territories, there should be no question that American horsemen will subscribe to this movement. Like any chain it is no stronger than its weakest link. The organization is strongly set; the men who have laid down the by-laws are good business men, executives and fine horsemen.

THE CHRONICLE

The chain to the public is through the zone committee. As horsemen, everyone should hear from his zone committee, asking for his or her cooperation. In our effort as a country to build a strong team, if everyone does his share, this job should go smoothly. The selection, the competition necessary for this selection, the sportsmanship and the horsemanship involved, can be one of the most interesting contributions to the history of American horsemanship that could be devised. All the program needs is cooperation of every horseman, that means you gentle reader and me, all of us together, all of us who are interested in seeing the United States win the 1952 Olympic horsemanship events. They can be won for this country if each of us takes the trouble to see that this corporation has our help.

Letters To The Editor

More Time

Dear Sir:

In anticipation of complaints anent the length of time it took to judge the V. H. S. A. equitation class at the Warrenton Pony Show, I thought I would drop a line to you on this controversial subject. This is not a "Letter to the Editor", but if you think any of the points pertinent, please use them as you see fit.

In the first place it is my sad conclusion after judging quite a few equitation classes over the years, that less and less importance is being given the important fundamentals of horsemanship. Why this is so I know not, but the fact remains that at least 99 percent of the young fry haven't the slightest idea how to apply aids—even how to mount, dismount, or hack. The only way the majority of them can tell what lead the horse is galloping on is to lean forward and down and look!

A good pilot is supposed to fly by "the seat of his pants", and that expression was borrowed from horsemanship, where it has been an axiom for generations. In the beginner's class at Saturday's show, I would be embarrassed to tell you how few knew which was the curb and which was the snaffle rein—or bit. I could go on and on, but am sure this will give you an idea.

We did take a long time, but in this case, the ring stewards assured us we had plenty of time and to help ourselves. Naturally it was boring from a spectator's point of view, particularly when the requirements were so poorly executed. It was fairly complete, however, much more could have been required and would have tested the riders more thoroughly—had they been really competent.

I realize in most shows, it would have been impossible to take so long to judge such a class in the ring. However, there is no reason arrangements can't be made to have the eliminations in an outside ring at a time convenient to the show and when time can be taken to judge the class. Should such a practice become general, it wouldn't take long for the young riders to become aware of the fact that there is more to riding than just climbing aboard and sailing around the ring once or twice in the hope of getting a ribbon. The kids are keen and would love to be taught to really ride, I'm sure. And any youngster with average coordination of body and mind can be taught all the fundamentals with ease.

I hope this rings a bell with you and that you will use the influence of The Chronicle to campaign for better horsemanship in the young. Superior learning roots the same way—and if something is not done about this, horsemanship and horse shows will die a natural death.

Sincerely

Col. H. A. Luebbermann

Distinction Urged

Dear Sir:

All my life I have been taught to believe only one half of what I see, one quarter of what I hear, and a very small portion of what I read. Consequently when Mr. George Coleman recently got his spurs into the professional horsemen in an article on the preparations for the building of an American Olympic team, I passed it by as of no consequence. However, during the past couple of weeks, your editorial article and a few conversations I have heard have made me change my mind to the extent of asking you to please give this letter as much prominence as you gave Mr. Coleman's article.

If knowledge is power, then I think most of us will agree that lack of it is pitiful and so I say to you—how many professional horsemen

SHOW CIRCUITS

BARRE RIDING AND DRIVING CLUB HORSE SHOW

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Wilson's B B took over the hunter division at the Barre Riding and Driving Club Horse Show held at Felton Field, Barre, Mass., on June 11. Reserve was Domenic Volente's Tobac Blond.

Open jumpers participated in two events but no championship award was made.—Contributed by Northerner, Chronicle Correspondent.

CIRCLE M CORRAL HORSE SHOW

This year the Circle M Corral of Manlius, N. Y. held its first hunter and jumper show on June 18. This is a western group who have hitherto held rodeos but they certainly proved their ability to be broadminded about hunters and jumpers as they planned a well balanced program.

The jumper championship went to Troop K, owned by John Vass and ridden by John D'Alanzo. This is the first tri-color to be won by either horse or rider. Reserve went to Mel Coe's Devil's Daughter which is always stiff competition.

Younger horses were outstanding in the hunter ranks. Mike Nidorf, owned by D. W. Winkelman and ridden by Ed Daniels, nosed out H. A. Dunn's Naughty Mia, ridden by Arthur Ridley. Mike Nidorf's victory in the hunter stake was the deciding round as up to this class, Naughty Mia had been leading in points. Contributed by Elizabeth McAllister, Chronicle Correspondent.

FAIRFIELD COUNTY HUNT CLUB HORSE SHOW

The Fairfield County Hunt Club Horse Show had its heat wave broken by a cloud burst which lasted through one class—the triple bar—before clearing and letting the heat come in again. The attractive club house was, of course, a very popular place as spectators and exhibitors would sit on the porch and watch the classes, cooled by any stray breeze and icy drinks. This year the show was held June 23-24-25 at Westport, Conn. and completed the 3-show circuit.

Really ending up the show with a bang were the horses from the stable of the W. Haggins Perrys. Their Joseph's Coat not only topped the young hunter division over stablemate Strideaway but he was reserve conformation hunter champion behind Fairview Farm's *Golden Hill. The previous week at Ox Ridge the order of the conformation hunter pinning had been the reverse.

An owner-rider, Miss Patricia Kelley, rode her Lanikia to the working hunter championship. This beautifully moving horse really was outstanding over the big courses and won his first class, the lightweight. He also garnered another leg on the John Cavanagh Challenge Trophy in the owner-ridden class and his blue in the stake left no doubt as to the outcome of this division. Another owner-rider, Miss Jean Cochrane, rode her My Chance in for the reserve ribbon.

Open Jumper honors were held up as there was a tie between Mrs. Don J. Ferraro's Black Watch, ridden by Miss Peggy Mills and Owner-rider Russell Stewart on My Play Boy. In the jump-off, My Play Boy securely gained the tri-color.

After the upset in the jumper stake at Ox Ridge the week before when a dog running into the ring caused Mr. Stewart's My Play Boy to refuse, Announcer Otis Trowbridge made sure that no stray dog would have a chance to wander out into the ring to cause trouble. In between calling classes, answering scores of questions and announcing results, he warned the spectators to keep their dogs on leash. The constant firm reminder of "Loose dog. Watch out!" over the loudspeaker kept the wandering canines in check most of the time. His often repeated plea of "Keep your dogs tied up" was occasionally disregarded. One day someone is going to be hurt badly by a dog running out in front of a jump and then, perhaps, something will be done about keeping dogs on a leash or leaving them at home.

Fairfield's hospitality always makes leaving the show a slow process but there is the thought, if they had such a good event this year, next year will bring about a repeat performance.—Contributed by Jean Slaughter, Chronicle Correspondent.

FOXHOLLOW SCHOOL HORSE Show

Foxhollow School, Lenox, Mass., held its horse show on June 10. Miss Doris Eddy, the school's riding instructor, has worked hard on the girl's riding. Her requirements for the classes represent a step toward more thorough and exciting tests for both horses and riders.

was a weanling, he was deserted by his dam. Found by the Crays in a hungry and bewildered state, they took him back to the ranch house, bottle fed him and made him as comfortable as possible. Becoming a family pet, he was shipped east to their home in Birmingham, Mich., where he was trained and began his show career. In the exhibition, Harmony was ridden bareback with nothing but a piece of twine around his neck, did figure eights in three gaits and took the regular jumping course in the ring.

Mrs. F. M. Huebner was a spectator at the show due to a recent accident at Tryon, N. C. Johnny Wallace rode the Huebner entries in the hunter division. Col. Cheff rode his own horses as usual and for the most part, the winners of all classes were owner-ridden.... Contributed by Patty Cray, Chronicle Correspondent.

GROSSE POINTE HUNT CLUB HORSE SHOW

Grosse Pointe Hunt Club closed its 39th annual 4-day horse show on June 18 at Grosse Pointe, Mich., and the committee could point out that the event had broken all records for quality performances. Classes were well filled and exhibitor ranks were swelled with new names appearing in the list.

Juniors had their day on opening day, June 15 and Miss Sally Snodgrass of St. Louis did very well with her good going Brass Tacks. This pair captured practically everything on junior day.

Rolling Rock Farm's Ermine Coat and Pappy took over the conformation hunter division and the grey Ermine Coat made it no slight victory when he accumulated 26 1-2 points to annex the Burns Henry Championship Cup. Pappy, which was conformation hunter champion of the show last year, had to be content with reserve.

Mrs. Hubert R. Thomas' Velvet Lassie took on all comers in the open jumper division and accounted for 22 points and the championship ahead of Cloud Cray's Lady Luck which was reserve with 15 points.

Working hunters came forward for tri-color honors and leading the line was Mrs. E. Spaulding's Timber Dot while Miss Susie Lucenti's Confidence was reserve.

The Grosse Pointe show lived up to and surpassed expectations. The program said, "We knew you were coming so we baked a cake", and they did just that with parties and hospitality on every day.

INDIAN HEAD LIONS CLUB HORSE SHOW

Making his first show ring appearance since 1949, Mrs. Cheerie McKee's good looking 17.0 hand chestnut gelding, Sir Pennard, won the hunter championship at the Indian Head Lions Club Horse Show held June 4 near Indian Head, Md. Reserve was Joe Smith's Flick.

In the jumper division, Donald Snelling's big horse, Pretender, won the championship over Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Hughes, Jr.'s Black Caddy. —Contributed by Bruce Fales, Jr., Chronicle Correspondent.

JACKSON COUNTY HORSE SHOW

Saturday and Sunday, June 3-4, were eventful days in Jackson, Mich. Their annual horse show, sponsored by the Waterloo Hunt, was scheduled to be held for the first time in their new permanent ring atop one of the many hills at the hunt club property. Weather conditions forced the committee to abandon the new ring and hold the first day's classes in the old ring which, despite the storm, was in better shape. High winds and a warm sun did wonders in 24 hours to put the new course in shape and Sunday the situation was well in hand and going along as originally planned.

The Jackson territory provides one of the few hilly sections of Michigan and this gives the show natural country for an outside course. Indianapolis entries were numerous. The Folly Farms string, handled by Max Bonham, had a good day in both ught out and advanced and beginner riders have their divisions for competition. A junior jumping class is also held which is written up somewhat like a handy hunter event and riders have to know the course and think while riding.

Junior horsemanship, one of the largest classes, was won, after individual tests, by Miss Bunny Bray. The winners of the first three places in this class, advanced horsemanship and junior jumping competed for the championship. The champion was Miss Toni Yardley and she also won the Rotan Cup for the Foxhollow girl winning the most points in horsemanship events. Contributed by Mary Louise Harvey, Chronicle Correspondent.

FULTON-DEKALB SHRINE HORSE SHOW

Local hunters turned out for the 7th annual Fulton-DeKalb Horse Show held at Atlanta, Ga. from June event was held June 10-11. One of the most noticeable changes was the added number of hunters and jumpers turning out to fill the added number of classes in these divisions. Another innovation was the greater distance offered between fences on the outside course. This, as is obvious, allows horses to stretch out and go on, showing their style and quality for their primary purpose in life as cross country mounts.

Championships were determined by winners of the stakes classes and not by points. Col. P. T. Cheff's Key took over the hunter tri-color while Cloud L. Cray's Lady Luck was jumper champion.

Lacking any planned exhibition for Sunday, the show committee requested the Cray family to show their hunter Harmony while the announcer told the story of the horse. The Crays have a ranch in North Dakota and raise horses as a hobby. A little over 7 years ago when Harmony, then unnamed and unknown, the hunter and jumper events. The William E. Munks were on hand with their horses, including Mrs. Munk's hunter combination. The Louise Schwitzers, George Sadliers and Miss Marion Mitchell completed the Indiana entries.

Folly Farms' Jack Be Nimble took the hunter championship with Mrs. Charles Kirchen's Brambles in for reserve. It might well be explained that hunter and jumper awards are determined by the winners of the stake classes rather than on points gained throughout the show. This is a practice that seems to be employed to a large extent in the Midwest.

The show was a real success. Large entries and good quality performances rewarded the spectators who had gambled on the weather and came from distances to see the 3rd show on the Michigan circuit.

JANESVILLE ROTARY CLUB HORSE SHOW

Two hunter and two jumper classes helped fill the program at the 10th annual Janesville Rotary Club Horse Show held June 10-11 at Janesville, Wis. The Our Day Farm from Elgin, Ill. handled the major awards in the open division while the Denleys from Deerfield chalked up the blues in the hunter event with Lightland and Birchwood.—Contributed by Jeanne Denley, Chronicle Correspondent.

JUNE FETE HORSE AND PONY SHOW

The June Fete Horse and Pony Show and the dog show under the auspices of the Huntingdon Valley Kennel Club was held June 3 at Justa Farm, Huntingdon Valley, Pa. This one-day affair really gets things accomplished and attractions run from an automobile show, dog show, horse show, village fair to a fashion show. That is more than enough to keep spectators on the move and interested.

W. H. Frantz' Broomlight annexed a leg on the Arthur L. Challenge Trophy which must be won 3 times to be retained by the owner. For working hunters over the outside course, Broomlight turned in a blue ribbon performance under the riding of W. H. Frantz, Jr.

LAKEMONT HORSE SHOW

Many old favorites, plus a number of new entries, made for another successful Lakemont Horse Show on May 30 at Lakemont, N. Y. Although some of them have changed places, the list of winners carries a lot of familiar names up among the top four in every class.

Roy Smith's Popeye, which is definitely a "pet" with the Lakemont Show, was back for competition in the open jumper ranks but had to drop to reserve champion as Christopher DiDo's Maybe took the tricolor.

Bronze Major, owned by San Joy Farms, repeated his 1949 performance in taking the hunter championship. Reserve went to another San Joy Farm entry, Dunlin King.

Young Master Danny Burke made quite a hit with the crowd when he showed his dapple gray pony, Dapper Dan. In the horsemanship ranks, Sandy Medwin took over the award while Miss Ann Barry, the 1949 Lakemont horsemanship champion, was reserve.... Contributed by E. A. Swing, Chronicle Correspondent.

LANCASTER HORSE SHOW

Waverly Farms moved from the Devon Horse Show to the Lancaster (Pa.) Horse Show for the June 2-3-4 week-end. With Hugh Gentry riding, Sir Sarazan swept through the conformation division to lead that class group ahead of Mrs. Ralph T. King's Final Answer. Although Sir Sarazan had the most consistent performances throughout the show, the most brilliant round of the 3 days was put in by a horse which never even got credit for it.

It all happened on Saturday night in the corinthian class. The horse was Tanahmerah, owned by Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Charles B. Lyman. The class was run over the famed Course "K" of the Garden. The General was immaculate in his uniform and the grey Tanahmerah sparkled under the lights. Then the pair put in one of those corinthian rounds which a rider wishes for but doesn't get to enjoy too often.

General Lyman came right back in with his Hollandia, the horse which was 2nd at the 3-Day Olympic Trials at the combined shows last fall, and had an almost equally brilliant round. The two horses were put at the head of the line with the blue going to Tanahmerah and Hollandia 2nd.

Tanahmerah had been post entered (he was being shown in the working division and it is permissible to show in both the working and conformation division at a "C" show) but due to an oversight of both the committee and the Lymans, a waiver had not been obtained from all the other exhibitors in the class. Consequently Tanahmerah was disqualified—however, this put stablemate Hollandia in for the blue.

Mrs. Ralph T. King's show string came out of its winter quarters in Ohio and with the first jump out of the box, Kathleen N. was up to her past performances of annexing working hunter tri-colors. In behind her was Mr. and Mrs. John C. Kehoe's Magno.

Hi-Rock Farm's Circus Rose which hadn't found the Devon course to her liking, went right back to her earlier spring form and when the points were added in the jumper ranks, Joe Green rode Circus Rose in for the top award ahead of Millard Farms' Reno Residue.... Contributed by Andy Ebelhare, Chronicle Correspondent.

MANCHESTER HORSE SHOW

The week-end of June 17-18 witnessed Manchester's annual horse show at Acres in the Pines, Bedford, N. H. Saturday morning's downpour solved the dust problem ingeniously enough but the displeasure of committee members and exhibitors toward the possibility of the continuation of such weather seemed sufficient to break up the black clouds.

On both days jumping classes held the limelight. Much to the spectators' amusement was a scrub baseball game on the outside course, between jumping classes on Sunday, which had the added feature of a mysterious new language, intelligible only to a small circle of initiates who seem to have formed a sort of clan around the horse which leaped his way to the jumper championship. The rivalry began again with the decisive stake class in which Laurence Delaney's My Rogue was victorious, securing for himself the championship over Mrs. Ruth Kalaharis' Ulster. Not to be left unmentioned are young Davie Wheeler's game and rather spectacular rounds on his bay pony Little Eva. Neither party may be very large, but the pony seems to have a jump in her as big as Davie's heart is. Interesting speculation heard at the ring-side, "Could Little Eva gallop through Ulster's legs?"

Hunter ribbons were very evenly distributed and Mrs. F. H. Gleason's Erased Error continued to add ribbons to the tackroom, plus the championship. Lady Leaf, owned by Ard Righ Farms, was reserve.—Contributed by Timmie, Chronicle Correspondent.

ORMSTOWN EXHIBITION

Hunters and jumpers are part of the wide program included in the Ormstown Exhibition from June 6-10 at Ormstown, Quebec, Canada. The hunter division was dominated by Miss Peggy Jacobson's Tug O'War and Mr. and Mrs. H. J. O'Connell's Paleface was in for reserve.

There was no championship offered the open jumpers but Robert Egan no doubt would have been tied with his entries. Showing Atomic and Energy, he won 4 out of the 5 open events.

Last year Connecticut's show circuit of Greenwich, Ox Ridge and Fairfield was almost covered up with the dust caused by a drought.

Horse Shows

Horses and riders dropped by the wayside before the circuit was completed but this year the picture was different. Following the Greenwich Horse Show, Ox Ridge Hunt Club Horse Show was held June 17-18 at Darien, Conn., and two perfect days were chalked up. The footing was perfect after the first few classes when a brisk breeze came up and dried the mud.

Miss Carol Gussenoven did a most outstanding job of riding Hutchinson Farms' Peg's Pride in the open classes and deserves a lot of credit for getting the horse going so well. Peg's Pride was the open jumper champion with Russell Stewart's My Play Boy reserve. Mr. Stewart really had tough luck in the stake class. His horse had a clean round up to the triple in-and-out but there a dog ran out behind the last fence. My Play Boy refused, quite naturally, and the judges ruled to count the refusal as such.

The W. Haggin Perrys took their show string to Connecticut again this year and their Joseph's Coat, with Mrs. Perry riding, really made the grade in the conformation division at Ox Ridge. Winning the stake class as a final gesture, the good looking grey gelding annexed the tri-color ahead of Fairview Farm's Golden Hill.

Miss Peggy Mills was a busy rider at the show as she rode *Golden Hill and stablemate *Glen Erin in several conformation classes as well as Mrs. Don J. Ferraro's Black Watch and George FitzPatrick's Party Miss in the open division. Getting into the working hunter ranks on Mrs. Ferraro's consistent Sombrero, Miss Mills annexed the championship ahead of Mrs. Ralph T. King's personable Kathleen N.

Mrs. John J. Farrell had her share of bad luck when the grey mare, Miss Diana, had to bow out of the working hunter championship preliminary. With 18 points to her credit against 15 for the next horse, Miss Diana was excused from the class because of lameness.

Over in the juniors' corner, Miss Betty Haight won the Maclay; Miss Nancy Jane Imboden was the horsemanship champion with Miss Haight reserve. Miss Imboden also rode her horsemanship mount, Cute Trick, in several working hunter classes and placed in the open young hunters with her new 4-year-old, Mimi's Joy. Ronnie Mutch won the Chimney Corners Challenge Trophy for bridle path hacks with his own grey mare, Left Aim. This was a good class to win as a number of good horses were competing.

Exhibitors say the Ox Ridge course is the best to ride over and the top spot to show a horse. The whole place, from the stables to the white ring, the perfect outside course and the new red geraniums around the flag pole, is just as well turned out as a conformation horse. Ox Ridge is a lovely place, but when Otto braids its mane and tail, so to speak, it is just about the most attractive place anywhere to hold a show.—Contributed by Jean Slaughter, Chronicle Correspondent.

PHILADELPHIA HORSE SHOW FOR JUNIORS

When a large committee of alert, capable and attractive Springside School girls get together and start working for a horse show, you know they will get results. The 15th annual Philadelphia Horse Show for Juniors was three months in the making but the event bespoke well for the hard work which had gone into its making.

The committee was well able to cope with the avalanche of post entries which appeared, and handled all problems well. The number of entries (32) in the novice horsemanship and the novice jumping horsemanship classes point up the ever increasing interest in good riding around Philadelphia.

Many good ponies competed against one another and often against horses for challenge trophies. The ponies cleaned up, winning all of the big classes of the day except corinthian hunter and hunt teams. In children's hunter over the outside course, Miss Sally Frantz' little black General galloped off with the trophy and Miss Joan Ferguson's lovely bay mare My Star adroitly beat all comers in handy hunters over a course which confused many an old timer. Taffy, pert and important, belying her age with no trouble, has a 3-year-old gray son Houdini in the show circles and then she proved she could perform just as well for this year's rider, Miss Betsy Lockhart, as she has gone in the past for the two older sisters, March and Paty. My Star and General kept the competition close and when the points were added, My Star led General by just half a point.

Exhibitors appear to love to school during a show and this show proved to be no exception. The announcer repeatedly asked that there be no schooling over the outside course. Such an announcement should not be necessary and as some of the riders continued to ignore the request, several horses had to be disqualified from competition in the next class—a lenient decision. Such thoughtlessness mars the feeling of good sportsmanship which has always been an integral part of these top children's shows.

Last year a young rider turned up for competition at the National in New York and certainly made a good impression with all. Having put school behind her for the season and hanging her tack in the Charles B. Lymans' tackroom (instead of returning to Texas), Miss Cynthia Coates walked off with the most coveted trophy of the day when she won the Brookfield Challenge Trophy for horsemanship judged throughout the day. After that she re-entered the ring with her mare Killarny to receive the award for the champion horse.... Contributed by Polly Miller, Chronicle Correspondent.

RHODE ISLAND LIONS HORSE SHOW

year was sponsored by five Lions Clubs in Rhode Island. Attendance was good in spite of intermittent rain during the week end of June 3-4.

It is becoming very pronounced in New England that the working hunter classes are most popular, this division being well filled and the conformation ranks on the weak side. With one of the finest outside courses in the east, the show offered a splendid opportunity for hunters to show under the best advantages.

The Cloud, owned by Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Bowen and ridden by Mrs. Bowen, was the outstanding hunter at the show, winning both the conformation and working hunter championships. This big, brown mare was most consistent throughout the show, especially her fencing. Super X, owned by Mrs. Q. A. S. McLean and ridden by Bob Ridley, was reserve conformation hunter. In the working division, House Guest, owned and ridden by Miss Carol Hall, was reserve.

Among the open jumpers, Widow's Mite, owned and ridden by Wilson DuBois, garnered the tri-color but received plenty of competition from Middlebury, ridden by Ed Bowen and My Rogue ridden by Lawrence Delaney. When the points were added up for the reserve award, My Rogue won the spot.

The Saturday evening show was most colorful, with a complete new permanent lighting system. The open jumper classes were most enthusiastically applauded and the Lions were convinced that this night performance should be a part of the program.

WEST JERSEY HOSPITAL HORSE SHOW

On Saturday, June 3, Garden State Park at Camden, N. J. was filled with spectators but not the usual crowd. They were there to watch a horse instead of a race. One of the major attractions was Hill Chase's 6-horse hitch of black Percheron mares.

Better Self Taking It Easy; Hill Prince Being Rested; Guillotine Runs True To Form In Aqueduct's Carter Handicap

Joe H. Palmer

The Aqueduct meeting had its good spots, but it will not be greatly missed. Delaware and New Jersey, between them, drew away a good many performers from the New York circuit, with the result that it was unusual to get two good races a day, and there were times when it was hard to find one. The stakes stood up quite well, but the overnight races were what, in radio, is called "sustaining."

One item was that the Dwyer Stakes brought about the temporary retirement of Hill Prince, which had faded back in three successive races after getting in front. He was showing signs of wear and tear—I had thought he looked down in the Belmont—and it was decided that the Arlington Classic, originally on his schedule, should be passed up. The *Princequillo colt will accordingly be rested for a few weeks, and now his next appearance is likely to be the Travers, at Saratoga. It's bad to have a top performer out of action, but I'm sure Hill Prince is going to be the better for it. He's a big rugged colt, but he's had a hard campaign through the spring.

The Carter Handicap on the final Saturday may have limited the racing days of King Ranch's Better Self. If you remember, he won the race last year, and this season he won the Gallant Fox Handicap at the Jamaica meeting. Since then he's raced badly, and Max Hirsch, who trains him, thinks that the horse has grown cunning. "He can outrun any of those horses," Hirsch said before the race, "but for a while his feet hurt him, and while he was protecting himself he found out he didn't really have to run his best. So now sometimes he won't." Better Self ran a quite decided last in the Carter, and afterward Arcaro reported that he wouldn't try. I suppose he'll get other chances, but unless he takes more interest in his business he'll be in the stud next year.

He will carry quite a handsome record with him, having won fifteen races, nine of them stakes, and $358,075. He was out in Citation's year and whether you rank him second or third among the 3-year-olds of 1948 depends on what you think of My Request, which beat him in the Wood Memorial and the Dwyer. But you can't get him back any farther than third. He's a son of Bimelech and Bee Mac, each the champion 2-year-old, sex considered, of their years, and he is the mare's first foal.

To consider the other end of the Carter, Greentree's Guillotine took the lead out of the gate, despite stumbling once, and kept it to the finish. Like Better Self he's by Bimelech, and also like him he's Bradley-bred. Technically that isn't true, for Greentree owned Blade of Time (dam of Blue Border and Bymeabond) when Guillotine was foaled, and so is officially the breeder. But the mating which produced him was made by Colonel Bradley, and the mare went to Greentree, in foal, in the three-way split of the Idle Hour stock in 1946.

Last year Guillotine ran to a regular pattern. He won and lost alternately through seven starts. Fortunately this wound up on the Futurity, when it was his time to win, and he got $94,835 for the year. This year he's won three out of seven tries, and his record now stands at seven wins, seven losses, but he hasn't been quite as regular about it, and until the Carter he'd been winning the wrong races. He was rated in a tie for fourth place, with 122 pounds, in the Experimental Free Handicap, but he showed quite early that he wasn't a classic possibility. He held on quite well for the seven furlongs of the Carter, but he couldn't have stood another one.

I shouldn't think that the victory of Maine Chance Farm's Silver Wings over George D. Widener's Battlefield upset the 2-year-old ratings. Battlefield, by virtue of previous victories, picked up a four-pound penalty and carried 126 pounds. Silver Wings, by virtue of having done nothing significant, got five off and started under 117. With the nine-pound disadvantage, Battlefield was getting to the "Mahmoud" colt steadily at the finish of the Great American Stakes, missing him by a head, and would certainly have had him in another fifty yards. Mrs. Graham, of course, got the $12,700 in first money, but Battlefield is still the best colt to show in stakes

Elkridge Wins Stake 5 Times

Port Raider Wins Final In Three-Race Series Of Spring Maiden Steeplechases; *Sauchiehall Winner Over Hurdles

Nancy G. Lee

A 12-year-old bay gelding remained quiet in his paddock stall at Delaware Park on June 30 as his owner-trainer carefully tightened the girth, made a last minute check of the tack before nodding to the boy to take the horse out into the paddock. Only 6 horses were going postward for the 12th running of the Indian River Steeplechase Handicap and with Mrs. E. duPont Weir's Darjeeling in as the favorite, many wondered if Elkridge could repeat his feat of making a clean sweep of Delaware Park's stakes over the big brush course. Mrs. Beverly Bryant's Silver Duck was not overlooked as his outing over the course the previous week in the Georgetown Steeplechase Handicap had given him a schooling in top company.

The horses backed up to the liverpool on the far side of the course and when the flag dropped, Jockey L. McMorrow, the rider who rode Russian Hero to victory last year in the Grand National, went to the top on R. W. Grant's Sun Bath, followed by Elkridge and Jockey F. D. Adams. The race was to narrow down between these two, but after crossing the flat track and jumping the 2nd jump, Sun Bath had his job cut out for him as Darjeeling put in a bad one and caulked Sun Bath.

well. Sun Bath went to the top over the 6th and here Monkey Wrench put in rather a rough one with Jockey D. Marzani but recovered all right. It was Sun Bath establishing the pace over the course and he was still leading at the 10th, the water jump. The 11th was clear sailing for Sun Bath and Elkridge, but Silver Duck went in deeply, falling with Jockey Harr.

With only 3 remaining out of the original field, Sun Bath continued to lead until after the 15th. As they came across the track toward the final jump, Jockey Adams called on Elkridge and the old bay responded gallantly, passed Sun Bath and jumped the 16th on top. He continued to increase his advantage in the stretch run and won easily by 9 lengths.

His 3 outings this year have earned him $19,200 while his total purses amount to $214,330. Not only is he the leading money winning steeplechaser but his victory in the Indian River Steeplechase Handicap makes him the first horse in the history of American racing to win the same stake event 5 times. He annexed the Indian River in 1942-45-48-49-50.

The Delaware Spring Maiden Steeplechase, the final event of a 3-

KENT MILLER'S ELKRIDGE (No. 1), with Jockey F. D. Adams up, scored his 5th victory in Delaware Park's Indian River 'Chase 'Cap at the expense of R. Grant's Sun Bath. This victory made it 2 straight in as many outings at Delaware this year.

Elkridge was running easily and jumping well over the water jump and then the 4th jump brought trouble. Darjeeling fell heavily and Jockey P. Smithwick and Happy Hill Farm's Adaptable could not avoid the fallen horse. Adaptable, which was going much better than he had the week before, went to his knees, made an attempt to stay up but was unsuccessful. Jockey Smithwick tried to catch hold of the bridle as Adaptable got to his feet, but luck just wasn't with the pair.

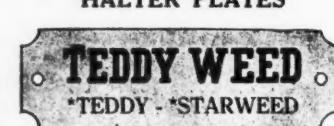

Around the turn, across the track and over the 5th, the order was Elkridge, Sun Bath, Silver Duck and Mill River Stable's Monkey Wrench. Jockey C. Harr had Silver Duck up within striking distance of the leaders and the grey horse was going race series, was run on June 27 and the winner was Mrs. L. E. Stoddard's Port Raider, ridden by Jockey F. D. Adams. Port Raider, a 6-year-old chestnut gelding by Port au Prince-Cindy, by Stimulus, had finished 3rd in the Belmont Spring Maiden Steeplechase which had been won by J. Smerski's Whatta Knight.

At the 1st hurdle, Mrs. O. Phipps' Oedipus, which had won 2 of his previous 5 outings, fell and Whatta Knight fell over him, reducing the field to 6. Attention now centered on Lazy F. Ranch's Extra Points, the 4-year-old which had won at his first asking over brush on June 20. It wasn't his day and when Port Raider went to the top over the 1st hurdle, that was the position retained throughout the race. Staying in behind him was Brookmeade Stable's 4-year-old bay gelding by Whirlaway—Galant Lady which had had one previous outing this year at Aqueduct. Mrs. F. A. Clark's Alphabetical was in 3rd position early, but as he dropped back, F. A. Clark's Greens Keeper took over the spot.

Jockey Adams shook up Port Raider coming over the final hurdle and as the pair went over the finish line, 10 lengths separated them from Whirl Along which placed ahead of C. M. Kline's *Tolbiac which had passed Greens Keeper in the final stages.

7-year-old brown gelding by Dick Turpin—Fairy Apron, by Apron, went into the winner's circle on June 26 in a 2-mile claiming steeplechase. Mr. C. Cushman sent E. Roberts' Diablillo to the front as the flag dropped but over the 4th hurdle, B. F. Christmas' Scurry Gal and Jockey C. Harr were in command. Scurry Gal continued to establish the pace, followed by *Cloonshie and Rokeby Stables' Crooning Wind. Over the final hurdle they were still in this order but Jockey P. Smithwick made a driving bid in the stretch to pass the leading Scurry Gal and hold Crooning Wind safe, winning by a neck.

Mrs. E. duPont Weir's *Sauchiehall, which had been beaten over hurdles by his stablemate The Mast in his first outings this year, chalked up a victory at Delaware Park on June 28. The about 1 3-4-miles event was for maidens and Jockey P. Smithwick sent Happy Hill Farm's 3-year-old Marcheast out to establish the pace. Followed closely by Jockey J. Snyder and *Sauchiehall, Marcheast continued to hold the field safe over 7 of the 8 hurdles but over the last *Sauchiehall went to the top and increased his lead to win by 5 lengths. Marcheast was a close 2nd ahead of R. K. Mellon's Trout Brook.

Delaware's meeting concluded on July 4 but the racing between the flags completed its course with the Indian River Steeplechase Handicap on June 30.

*PRINCEQUILLO COLT

dk. b. c., by *Princequillo—Corn Likker, by Flares

at KEENELAND SALES

Thursday, July 27

"bred in the tradition of CLAIBORNE FARM"

*PRINCEQUILLO'S son, the second foal of CORN LIKKER (by Flares), a winner at 2, is truly "bred in the Hancock tradition." This colt's sire, *PRINCEQUILLO, stands at Mr. A. B. Hancock's Claiborne Farm, and CORN LIKKER, the dam, was bred by Mrs. Jane Hancock Garth. The Ascot Gold Cup winner FLARES, like CHARRED KEG, the second dam, was bred at Claiborne, and the latter produced ten winners, of which two, RED EYE and LIFT, were stakes winners. GALLANT FOX, the sire of FLARES, and STIMULUS, who sired CHARRED KEG, both achieved fame while in the stud at Claiborne, as did *WRACK, the maternal grandsire of FLARES.

 Will Judge Racing Division At Virginia
 Horsemen's Association Show Tomorrow

Upon retirement to the stud, some horses are immediately sought after by owners who are prominent in the breeding of Thoroughbreds—horses such as Polynesian, Spy Song, and First Fiddle to name a few. Other horses such as Citation and Coaltown have a long list of breeders just clamoring to get to them even before they come off the track. A third group of prospective sires includes horses which have done well at the races and have more than a fair pedigree but the public (and I mean breeding public), just hasn't taken a liking to them, consequently these horses have to sell themselves—a most difficult procedure, because they will not have the very top class mares in their books.

There is a fourth category for prospective sires which have won a handicap or two and whose owners want them to go back to the farm after their racing days are over, so will give them to almost anyone who is qualified to keep a stud. The least said about this particular type the better. As far as I am concerned they should be put down, or at least castrated.

A horse that falls in the third group is Pot o'Luck, and I believe he is going to make all breeders like him. This is a large order for the son of Chance Play, which is a little on the temperamental side, but comes by it honestly as he is a grandson of the great Fair Play.

One of the doors to Pot o'Luck's box is always left open in order that he may enjoy the freedom of a large paddock any time he so chooses. One day a boy can catch him by just walking into the paddock, the next day six men and a boy will have to spend half an hour trying to get close enough to put a rope on him.

The reason for making such a strong statement about people liking him, hinges on a number of things: first, he was a good 2-year-old, winning the Champagne Stakes and Pimlico Futurity, along with some lesser lights; his 3-year-old form showed an improvement over his juvenile year, which as I say was good, so that he emerged the top money winning colt, with a number of stakes to his credit—in other words, he would go a route as a 3-year-old. The fact that a colt is good at 2 and better at 3 in top company, is most important in determining his potentialities as a sire.

Pot o'Luck comes from a producing family. The good filly, Bewitch (winner of numerous stakes, such as the Debutante, Hyde Park, Pollyanna, Arlington Lassie, Princess Pat, Washington Park Futurity, etc.—she also won the Matron Stakes at Belmont Park, but was disqualified), is half-sister to Pot o'Luck, both being out of Potheen, by Wildair.

Potheen, owned by Calumet Farm, was the leading broodmare of 1947. That was the year in which both Pot o'Luck and Bewitch were garnering stakes and winning big purses. Previously Potheen had produced Theen, winner of the Arlington Lassie Stakes, and now a producer at the famous Calumet establishment.

Another good one out of Potheen is Lot o'Luck, full brother to Pot o'Luck. By his accomplishments as a 2-year-old, Lot o'Luck was assigned 110 lbs. on John B. Campbell's Experimental Free Handicap. As a 3-year-old this year Lot o'Luck verified Mr. Campbell's prognostications by winning the $25,000 added Peabody Memorial.

Sometimes a mare will, as they say, "luck out" and have a very good offspring, but when a mare produces four stakes winners, she certainly has to be classified as a good producer.

Another factor which will make Pot o'Luck a successful sire, and one which will go a long way in making breeders like him, is the preponderance of his get—I have yet to see a poor Pot o'Luck foal.

Dr. F. A. O'Keefe, Warrenton, Va., at whose Pine Brook Farm Pot o'Luck stands, has two yearling fillies and one colt by Pot o'Luck, which will be sold at Saratoga this summer. These three yearlings are well proportioned, with plenty of bone and are nicely muscled. I was particularly impressed with the hardness and soundness of their legs, and as they are representative of Pot o'Luck's first crop, they will go a long way in getting breeders to consider Pot o'Luck as a sire.

Besides the three Pot o'Luck yearlings, Pine Brook Farm has a chestnut colt by New World and a bay colt by Walt A Bit, which will also be sold at Saratoga. These five individuals are about the nicest consignment the O'Keefe's have had.

NORTH CLIFF

Mr. and Mrs. Melville Church, II, of North Cliff Farm, Rixeyville, Va. are almost as interested in, and enthusiastic about, the forthcoming Breeders Show at Warrenton, Va. on Saturday, July 8, as they are about the forthcoming sale of their yearlings at Saratoga. The Virginia Horsemen's Association sponsors this show, and if all of us V. H. members showed as much enthusiasm and effort as the Churches, we'd probably have the "Greatest Show on Earth".

This year we are fortunate in having two judges who should—and they're hoping they do—know all about racing prospects; Joseph M. Roebling, owner of Harmony Hollow Stud, Harbortown, N. J., and Leslie Combs, II, owner of Spendthrift Farm, Lexington, Ky.

Thomas Waller of Mt. Kisco, N. Y. will judge the hunters, and Mrs. Waller will judge the ponies. The show committee consists of Taylor Hardin (chairman), Nick Saegmuller (manager), Melville Church, II, C. T. Chenery, and J. North Fletcher.

There will be a bit of social activity before and after the show—the judges will be dined by the Fletchers on Friday night; Mrs. Marion Scott is having a luncheon for them, and the Churches are having them for dinner on Saturday night. There will also be a cocktail party in the small stands on the grounds after the show for exhibitors, friends, judges, etc. Sounds like the makings of a good time!

Brookemeade Farm has eighteen head in the breeding classes, and the Stephen C. Clarks are showing their Upperville mare and foal winners.

There will be a new yearling class this year, and it will be a "dilly", for Messers. Combs and Roebling to judge. It's called "The Future Promise" class. They are supposed to look at the yearlings and judge for future promise as a race horse—some fun!

Melville Church's yearlings at North Cliff Farm need not take a backseat to the Warrenton show, as they are already in good condition for the Saratoga Sales. There are seven yearlings, five of which will be sold at Saratoga. They include three colts and two fillies. The colts are by *Adaris, Unbreakable, and Jeep. First Fiddle and Roman are the sires of the fillies. They are a good crop of youngsters and have been brought along just about right. The Jeep colt, which is out of Lask, should make A. A. Baldwin, of White Post, very proud to be the owner of Jeep, as this colt has about all there is to be desired in a good, strapping individual. The First Fiddle filly, out of Galla, is very impressive, with a great deal of quality and substance. One that isn't going to Saratoga, and one which is going to be "a lot" of filly, is by Pillate out of the *Wrack mare, Jane Kent.

Enon Sets Record At Aqueduct

Enon Proves Good Saratoga Yearling Purchase; Son of *Easton—*Sweet Nothings Has Won About $28,000

Spectator

Mrs. A. C. Randolph's Enon, ridden by Jockey A. P. "Paddy" Smithwick, ran down the pace setting H. Hour to score a record breaking victory in the $10,000 added Forget Hurdle Handicap on Thursday, June 29, feature infield event of Aqueduct's last week. Enon ran coupled with Brooks Parkers' *Wunderprinz, and the entry was second choice in the betting to the French-bred *Titien 2nd, which could do no better than 3rd a length and a half behind the winner, and another 2 lengths behind H. Hour. *Titien 2nd had some excuse, however, in that he picked up 152 lbs., 12 over scale for a 4-year-old at this time of the year, against 148 for the winner, a 6-year-old, which meant that *Titien 2nd conceded 18 lbs. on the scale. However in winning, Enon was forced to crack the track record of 3:39 2/5, set in 1948 by Lock and Key. Enon's time in the Forget was 3:37 4-5, and it was a sparkling performance for this son of *Easton—*Sweet Nothings, which has had some degree of success on the flat, and 3 victories over hurdles for his owner. Mrs. Randolph purchased him as a yearling at Saratoga in 1945 for $4,100, and to date has won about $28,000 with him.

In the Forget, New Rule broke on top, but Jockey H. Harris took a hold of him, and permitted H. Hour to take the lead going to the first turn, an advantage which widened to about 4 lengths at one time, while in 3rd place, Fonda, fresh off a victory in a claiming race earlier in the week, was making a nice effort. Enon came next, with *Titien 2nd, *Army Canteen and *Wunderprinz following in that order. There was little change in position until the last time around on the far side when Fonda started dropping back as Enon and *Titien 2nd moved closer to contention.

Coming into the stretch, H. Hour still held the lead with New Rule in 2nd place, but Enon was right there and Jockey A. Foot on *Titien 2nd, in contrast to his previous winning efforts, was really riding at this point. At the last hurdle H. Hour received the call, but now Enon was 2nd, New Rule 3rd, and *Titien 2nd under a drive in 4th place. In the run to the wire, Jockey Smithwick had no difficulty in taking the first spot, but he kept to his task right to the finish where his margin was 1 1-2 lengths. H. Hour at 148, equal weights with the winner, ran a good race, and safely held *Titien 2nd for the minor award, which in turn was 2 lengths in front of New Rule. Fonda, *Wunderprinz and *Army Canteen completed the field in that order, but were never dangerous when the real racing began.

W. Burling Cocks, who has had more than a fair share of luck at the major tracks this spring, trained the winner, and by odd chance, back in 1933, when Burly was riding as an amateur rider, he rode his first winner, and also the first winner for Mrs. Randolph, aboard a timber horse called Tom Adams.

The preceding Monday, James C. Brady finally had the pleasure of seeing his Boom Boom, break his maiden over hurdles. Seemingly a winner several times, Jockey F. D. "Dooley" Adams took no chances in this race and crossed the wire with Boom Boom on top by 5 lengths. To say that Jockey Adams took no chances is hardly the case however, for at the last hurdle Boom Boom was on equal terms with both *Basalt, the tiring pacemaker, and Joseph Brant. The latter was on the inside, with *Basalt in the middle and Boom Boom on the outside. At this point, Jockey Adams hit his mount with his whip, causing him to bear over and squeeze *Basalt. In the run to the wire, Jockey Adams again hit his mount, and again he came over. This time, scaring O. A. Brown, up on Joseph Brant, enough to cause him to lose sight of the finish for a split moment, and in this time, Joseph Brant, ducked out on the other side of the hedge, and while finishing 2nd, he was actually off the course. Jockey Brown promptly lodged a protest, but the stewards, after carefully looking at the pictures, decided that despite Jockey Adams riding tactics, the result was not materially affected, and that when Joseph Brant left the course, the fault lay with Jockey O. A. Brown, his rider, and not Jockey Adams. Joseph Brant of course was not placed, which made the order of the finish, *Basalt 2nd, Fulton 3rd and Colonel John 4th.

On Tuesday, the 1 3-4 mile claiming hurdle race was taken by Sanford Stud Farms' Fonda. In previous races this season against the same company, Fonda was well beaten, consequently the pay-off was a juicy $55.20. His victory by 2 1-2 lengths was at the direct expense of M. A. Cushman's Escarp, which may have done better but for several bobbles in the last part of the race. Third money went to the second choice, *Uncle Sam, which was 6 lengths behind Escarp, and had no apparent excuse. Boomerang, which finished 4th pulled up quite lame and was dismounted by his rider on the way back to the scales. Jockey A. Foot was up on *Diable de Gosse, a lukewarm favorite at 2.25 to one, but he never figured in the running as he was off badly, and then Jockey Foot rushed him into contention, went very wide on the first turn, and then dropped back after several of his jumps and finished dead last.

On Wednesday, June 28, The Gay Charles Handicap at 2 miles over the big fences, made a good race to watch. Seven jumpers paraded to the post and all were off to a good start with Oak Spring Stable's Sergt. Peace first to show the way, followed by Genanoke, Repose, *Kipper, Navigate, Floating Isle, and *Palaja in that order. Sergt. Peace soon established a lead of better than 4 lengths with Genanoke closest to him all the way, but it was not until the far side the last time around that Genanoke, was able to cut into the lead of Sergt. Peace. He gradually narrowed this down to a head coming to the next to the last fence, then took command momentarily but behind him both Navigate and *Kipper were also closing in.

At the last fence, all these four were in contention, with the issue decided in the stretch run. Jockey R. S. McDonald on Navigate was first under the wire by a length, by virtue of a very heady ride which brought him on the inside rounding the last turn, and saving ground, was able to stave off a very strong challenge from *Kipper which collared both Genanoke and Sergt. Peace, but could not overtake the winner. Genanoke took down 3rd money, while Sergt. Peace salvaged 4th place, 1 1-2 lengths in front of Repose.

Aqueduct 'Chasing

of Middleburg, Va., who claimed him for $4,500 at Belmont last month. Proceed was rated in 3rd place behind Tough and Joe Hogan, moved up in the closing stages of the race when Tough tired and dropped out of it, and then took command from Joe Hogan in the stretch run, to cross the wire 1 1/2 lengths in front. Teddy Briar ran a surprisingly good race in this company to take 3rd money, 8 lengths behind Joe Hogan, and another 4 in front of *Spleen.

Portland Hunt Club Spring Race Meet

Started In 1901, Spring Meet Celebrates Golden Anniversary; Full Brother To Mioland Wins Mioland Mile Event

Lucy A. Ostrum

Celebrating its golden anniversary, Portland (Ore.) Hunt Club presented the 50th Annual Portland Hunt Club Spring Race Meet on June 17-18, 1950. The Spring Meet was started back in 1901 and among the names found on that program were Dr. R. J. Chipman, Mr. Harry M. Kerron and Mr. A. M. Cronin, Sr., all of whom were present at the 1950 meet. Mr. Cronin, who has never missed a Spring Meet in the fifty years, was one of the racing judges and many sons and daughters, grandsons and grandchildren

West Highlands Hunt Club and the third from Portland Hunt Club. Some mighty fast horses were running and not a baton pass was missed by any of the teams. Victorious was the host team of Portland Hunt Club consisting of Mr. James A. MacGregor on his Mr. Smoke, Mr. W. Dirker on R. Samuel's Deep Mystery and Mr. Blake Hering on Mrs. Robert Ferry's Duke of Hampton.

On Sunday's program the colorful corinthian class was first and Harvest Billy, owned and ridden by William W. Payne, had a beautiful go of those early day participants were on the list of entries this year.

Juniors appropriately started off the first day's sport with some very nice performances in the junior corinthian class. The course included several jumps in the ring and one of the steeplechase brushes, a pig pen and a chicken coop in the outfield. Winner of the event was Alan Schneider on his willing Eager Beaver.

Highlight of the opening program was the Sr. Mile Relay Race. These teams turned out with one representing Lake Oswego Hunt, one from to win the coveted Dr. A. O. Pitman Perpetual trophy.

Most exciting race of the day was the Mioland Mile, won by The Cleaver—a full brother of Oregon's famed race horse Mioland, being by *Mio d'Arezzo—Isoland. Ridden by his owner Mr. Rudolph L. Gross, The Cleaver ran a good steady race. In the first quarter W. I. Wallingford's Just Bay with Mr. Blake Hering up led out at a fast clip, but faded after the half. Then The Cleaver took the lead to win after a battle in the have passed detrimental remarks and criticisms on what seems to me to be most praiseworthy effort to have this great and wonderful country represented by a team at Helsinki.

There must be many, many thousands of professionals in this country and therefore it seems harsh judgment to contend that the consensus of opinion amongst them is expressed correctly by the one or two disgruntled ones who reached Mr. Coleman's ear. One must remember that as a group, professional horsemen are as varied in their opinions as a group taken from any other walk of life. If a carpenter made the statement that the roof of a house should be built before the foundations surely it would not be taken for granted that that was the opinion of all carpenters.

As President of the Professional Horsemen's Ass'n of America, I can assure you that our organization has at all times felt the lack of a representative team from the United States, whether it be Military or Civilian, was to be very much deplored. I think you will agree with me in this if you refer to the very fine editorial you wrote about us a few years back when we were amongst the very first to make a large donation to the Olympic Fund.

Naturally we cannot answer for all professional horsemen, but by and large we are prepared to submit that our views and feelings on sportsmanship and patriotism are on just as high a plane as those from any other walk in life, and only a half-wit would fail to see that the very existence of professionalism is dependent upon the Amateurs.

I have no personal quarrel with Mr. Coleman, who I believe is very sincere in his writings, but since our Organization has reached the prominence it holds today, the very mention of the word professional seems to automatically couple us to it and we would therefore very much appreciate some distinction being made in articles presenting what is competition in the East this season. Nothing else in the Great American field was ever seriously in the race.

Silver Wings, a very light grey colt, cost $21,000 at the Saratoga auctions last year, and it was pointed out that the first three in the Great American—Phantom Farm's Nullify was third—all came from the same sales. He is out of the Blue Larks' mare, Irvana, which won two of her four starts as a 2-year-old, and had previously produced No Strings, winner of the Modesty Stakes of 1949, beating Two Lea, and Okana, which won a flock of small stakes on the West Coast.

The Great American was Silver Wings' first success of moment, but only his third start. He began with a crack at Battlefield in the Youthful Stakes at Jamaica and was badly beaten off, finishing ninth. At Belmont he won a maiden race down the chute, beating nothing of moment. Now he's won about two-thirds of his purchase price, but he is going to have to improve to beat Battlefield at level weights.

With the close of Aqueduct on July 4, various roving race tracks take up at Jamaica. The first is Empire City, which has ten days. After that comes Saratoga, which has twelve, the idea being to make enough money in this period to permit a 24-day vacation upstairs. It's a very worthy cause, and I hope it will be supported, but it's a good deal like going to a charity bazaar; you don't mind what it costs you as much as the time it takes.

contended to be the professional train of thought.

Wishing the United States Team and The Chronicle all the best of luck,

Yours sincerely,
Frank D. Hawkins

stretch with L. B. Mayne's Nemo which finished 2nd and Mr. Gordon Wilson on his Abide was 3rd, all close enough to keep the crowd in a frenzy.

The hunt teams were the best seen in Oregon in years. Eight teams completed the good course in the infield and winners were Scrap Iron, with Owner Harold Hirsch up, Mrs. J. C. Hering's Wallowa Teardrop with Blake Hering up and Nicol's Cactus Lass ridden by Miss Joan Menefee.

Closing event was the annual point-to-point for the Cachot Therkelsen trophy. The winning Brown Sugar, ridden by owner Mr. Erroll Ostrum, took the lead at the 3rd jump on the steeplechase course but at the top of the hill ran wide on a turn to miss the 7th, and Mr. Tull on The Deacon took the lead momentarily. Brown Sugar, however, came back to go to the front before the last jump and was never threatened after hitting the track. He finished several lengths ahead of The Deacon in 2nd place and Mrs. Robert Ferry's Silver Fizz, third.

Thus ended another Spring Meet where youngsters and oldsters alike had two grand days of real fine sport.

Rangers Avenge North Shore Defeat

Memorable Contest Sees Jack Ivory Break Tie In Overtime Scrimmage On Detroit's Home Field

Kenneth S. Drake

The feature polo game at Ivory Bowl Wednesday night, June 21st, was the return match of the North Shore Triple "C" Polo Club of Skokie, Illinois and the Ivory Rangers at Detroit. The Rangers had taken a beating out in Skokie two weeks earlier on North Shore's home field; fans had been promised a whale of a polo game in this return match and it was quite a game—in fact, the best seen this year at Ivory Bowl and certainly one of the best your correspondent has seen in many a year. The Rangers won in an overtime period 8-7.

Riding for the winning Rangers was A. J. (Mac) Stefani in his usual number 1 spot, Jack Ivory, the captain, at 2, and Walter Nicholls at 3. This is the same team that had beaten New York a week previous. For North Shore Triple "C" A. D. (Don) Beveridge was holding down number 1, Billy Mayer at number 2, and W. J. (Smyth) Schmidt at 3. These veterans had a string of wins during the indoor season in Chicago winding up with the 12 goal Junior Division Indoor Championship in March. Don Beveridge was playing his first game at Ivory Bowl as a member of a competitive team—last year Beveridge was a regular on the Pontiac Chiefs, an affiliate team of the Ivory Polo Club.

The Rangers took a one-point lead at the end of the first chukker. Stefani had two goals, Walter Nicholls had one as compared to North Shore's total of two—North Shore's Schmidt and Mayer had each tallied in the first quarter. Schmidt had accounted for a goal with a free shot given in penalty against The Rangers. The one-point lead was maintained during the second chukker; at the half it was Rangers 4, North Shore 3. Mayer tallied for the visitors and Stefani goaled for the Rangers. The end of the third chukker looked very much as if the Rangers would do another one of those walkaways. Stefani pounded in a goal early and Ivory accounted for his first in this match. Usually Ivory gets up one of those runs and piles up scores faster than fans can record them, but tonight he was battling a really tough defense. Schmidt for North Shore goaled late in the chukker to bring the period to a close 6-4 still in favor of the Rangers.

The fourth chukker was by far the best played and hardest fought contest in 1950 polo history at Ivory Bowl. Everyone of the visiting North Shore Team accounted for a goal. Mayer and Schmidt were riding deep in the saddle with an eye on victory while Don Beveridge was playing the defense. It paid off too as Beveridge made a save at the goal mouth which might have cost them the game in the fourth if he'd not been there "fustest with mostest", to borrow a phrase from our Navy. Beveridge's save was just in time to close the chukker 7-7. Ivory had scored a goal for the home team and came awfully close to racking up the winner several times.

Detroiter love a close fought battle, sudden deaths in hockey or polo are sure fire in the Motor City. Concessionaires, Pinkerton men, grooms, and others left their posts to get a good spot to see the overtime period and they got an eye full. The three and a half minutes of overtime seemed more like three and a half seconds. It was anybody's ball game in that short time. Both teams were playing defensively until Jack Ivory got a break, taking the ball from a scramble of horses, players and mallet thrusts at the mouth of the North Shore goal. Ivory got the opening he was hoping for—a clean cut hit sent the ball midfield. He was off like a jet-fighter and had a second hit while his team mates and opponents were trying to unscramble themselves. With a clear and unobstructed field Jack Ivory took his time and good measure, a third well placed shot sent the ball through to goal and the long to be remembered polo game ended.

More polo games like this and the management will have to add more seating capacity.

The preliminary match was four chukkers between The Pontiac Chiefs and Franklin Hills. Another close good ending in an 8-6 score favoring The Chiefs. Roy Pulver was high scorer for the Chiefs and was supported by Orville Rice and Gordon Miller. The Franklin Hills squad was Wendell Smith, Hank Evinger, and Tom Young.

Oakbrook Polo Team Defeated 10 To 4 By Ivory Rangers

K. S. Drake

Freddie Lutzow, Peter Perkins and George Oliver representing Oakbrook Polo Club of Hinsdale, Illinois (near Chicago) took a 14-8 defeat at Ivory Field in Detroit, Wednesday night June 28th, from the Ivory Rangers. Walter Nicholls replaced A. J. (Mac) Stefani in the Rangers lineup, otherwise the team was intact; Jack Ivory (Captain) at number 2 and Billy Nicholls at No. 1. Usually Stefani plays the No. 1 spot but his substitute was riding to-nite at 3. Stefani is recovering from an operation that has ground

Horseshoe, Bostwick Field Win In Their Respective Matches

Bill Goodrich

Bostwick Field—A Westbury Four was topped, 10-5, by Bostwick Field here June 25—but, what's more important, we think, was the noticeable improvement in Charley Leonard's game not necessarily in the match alone, but in addition, over the past season.

Leonard, at No. 1, rode in fast company with Stephen (Laddie) Sanford, Alan Corey, Jr., and Devereux Milburn, Jr., against Emilio Tagle, Pete Bostwick, Terrence Preece and Henry Lewis, III. The up-front player conducted himself well in the experience setting.

One of the features of Charley's improved play is his hitting. His game is sounder too.

"Since I've been playing with high goal players my game has been on the move", Leonard told us not so long ago. "That's the only way it can go with experience behind you."

Westbury got off to a 2-0 lead in the first period on goals by Leonard, but dropped by one in the second period on successive shots by Tagle, Bostwick and Preece. A brace of goals by Milburn in the third period was the reason Westbury left the field at intermission in a 4-4 deadlock. The teams were also deadlocked at 5-5 at the end of the fourth period through goals by Tagle, for ed him for the next six or eight weeks.

The game lasting four chukkers was fast, interesting and far better than the lopsided score would indicate. Peter Perkins and George Oliver are both high goal rated players. At the outset Oakbrook looked to be the favorite, but this thought was quickly dispelled when the first chukker ended 3-1 in favor of the Rangers. Billy Nicholls got off to a good start getting two goals for his team in the first and scoring until the end in every chukker. He was high scorer in the game with a grand total of six goals. Ivory and Walter Nicholls split equally eight goals. Oakbrooks scoring—Freddie Lutzow and Peter Perkins three each and George Oliver two.

The crowd, largest of the season was enticed to the Polo Club with advance publicity on Perkins and Oliver, these two are colorful players and have an imposing number of National and International matches behind them. In Detroit Jack Ivory has the greatest fan following—loyal whether Jack is up or down, they follow him and The Rangers with enthusiasm so typical of all sport fans in the Motor City.

We believe that howling, screaming sport fans who want to murder the referee when a foul is overlooked who continue to yell for their team when the going is rough, is a healthy sign. This is what we are noticing in polo out here. The old dignified polo matches played under summer's sun with its reserved and conservative spectators in white flannels and parasols is just another memory. To-day if fans like the sport they let you know it in no uncertain terms, if they don't like it they don't come back. They are coming back time and again for polo. We think it has a future brighter perhaps than its history.

A four chukker preliminary game between The Broncos and The Franklin Hills teams resulted in a 9-4 win for the Broncos. Every man on the winning team contributed three goals each. J. Stefani, R. Peterson, and W. Stevens rode for the winners. Franklin Hills divided its total score between W. Smith and H. Evinger—two each. Tom Young at No. 3 was without goal in this match.

Rocket Outstanding At Eglinton Hunt Jumping Competition

The Eglinton Hunt, Toronto, Canada, concluded its annual jumping competitions among members on June 4. Twenty-five horses were entered in the senior section and 14 in the junior, which competed in the 5 weekly performances, but a number of additional horses not entered for the series entered for individual days and in special extra events.

These competitions are held for the enjoyment of members and as a warm up for those intending to compete in the summer show circuit. They are more or less carry over from the winter competitions held before the war when Eglinton had an arena, but conditions have been altered to better suit the average member. As might be expected in a hunt club, many people own hunters that are not too strong on show ring performances. To keep everyone interested in the progress of the jumping series and give everyone a fair chance to get a ribbon in the competition, a handicap system has been used for 3 years.

Four ribbons were awarded each week which carried credit points in accordance with their value. Each ribbon won also carried handicap faults with which the horse entered the following week's performance. All credit points and handicap faults were cumulative through the 5 performances. This made it possible for less experienced horses to place in the ribbons on individual days but the most consistent horse piled Bostwick Field, and Corey, for Westbury. The losers failed to score thereafter.

In a match at Fort Hamilton, Brooklyn, one winning streak reached three and another was broken off at two, in one of the better matches of the young season.

The unbeaten Horseshoe Polo Club of Westbury, toppled the Hamilton Polo Club from the ranks of the unbeaten in a sudden death overtime period match. Bill Zimmerman's shot from 15 yard's out, on a pass from Archie Young, in 1 minute and 50 seconds of the sudden death session, rubbed out Hamilton by 5 to 4. Horseshoe dominated the play in the extra session. Young snatched the ball in a scrimmage sixty yards out from the Hamilton goal, passed up to Zimmerman, (who was flying) and brother that was that.

Johnny Rice had three chances of ending the match in the sixth period. The No. 3 missed three 40-yard free hits.

Luke Travis, who played at Squadron A several seasons ago, rode back into action at Bethpage State Park, with Bethpage. The No. 3 scored once in his teams 8 to 5 victory over Middleburg, Va.

The Squadron A riders—Tom Long, Paul Miller, Al Parsells and Fred Zeller—downed the Johnson brothers (Collister, Bob and Ben) and Bob Ackerman, 8 to 5, at Blind Brook. The first night polo game in Westchester County, scheduled for last June 21 at Blind Brook, had to be postponed on account of wet grounds. Counting the two Sunday rain outs, the weatherman has been anything but kind at Blind Brook this year.

Clean Leather Department

Ways To Maintain Tack Are Varied
But Leather Will Only Respond To
Plenty of Soap, Oil and Scrubbing

Jean Slaughter

The expensive loops and straps of leather that buckle around your horse's head are collectively called the bridle; the leather that goes upon his back is called the saddle. Together these objects are called tack. This should clear up any confusion relating to these terms.

Tack Must Be Cleaned Every Day. This is written in large black letters for the benefit of those who will glance through this article looking for things to disagree about. However, just among us who have to do their own tack, bridles and saddles do not disintegrate if they are not cleaned every 24 hours. Tack in really good condition can survive without a daily scrubbing, though I can hear a cry of horror from the Raised Eyebrow Department at these words. Keep your bridle well oiled, give it a really thorough cleaning every now and then instead of a half-hearted one every day, and turn your back on the Raised Eyebrow Department. Your tack will last as long as theirs.

When there is no more room for safety pins on your old bridle and you get tired of tying knots in the reins, you will know it is time to invest in a new one. Unfortunately there is no substitute for good leather. A cheap bridle will fool no one but yourself, and you won't be fooled long. It will wrinkle and droop and dissolve in the first rain, so go pinch your pennies somewhere else and do get good tack.

You must be strong and prepare yourself; the first day you ride using your new bridle you will, without fail, be bucked off and your horse will race around the field with the reins curling beneath his feet. Your friends will run for the stretcher when they hear your shrieks of agony which will be brought on, naturally, by the snapping reins and torn cheek pieces.

Before you can use your bridle it must be oiled. Now the leather is pale yellow and does not bend in the proper places; neatsoot oil, applied diligently, will stain the leather a warm dark brown and make it as soft and pliable as the slim, supple reins you are always reading about in books. However: avoid putting a newly oiled bridle on a grey horse. The results, if you do, are spectacular though not necessarily pleasing.

There are many excellent preparations for keeping tack in good condition, but I like the combination of Lexol and good saddle soap. Wet your sponge with Lexol, rub it over the soap, and scrub furiously. Your leather will glow.

The time comes eventually when you have the choice of allowing your horse to founder quietly in his stall or taking him out in the pouring rain. It is cheaper, considering vet bills and all, to take him out in the rain, but what this does to your precious tack is unpleasant even to contemplate. If your horse is a show-horse and has ever won a ladies' hunter class you can always take him out in a very old halter and two tired lead ropes and avoid this problem. However, there are few who can do this, Ladies' Hunter or not, and others must use their tack.

While it is wet the tack will feel perfectly all right and you will smile and say, "This is the result of my excellent care." Wait until it dries. You will then, without further ado, resort to the neatsoot oil. This will put the driest tack back on its feet again.

BITS: A bit is an object placed in your horse's mouth so he can: (A) Put his tongue over it; (B) get grass wrapped around it. The first will horrify judges, the second will horrify you (and rightly) when you have to keep said bit clean. Rub it with a dry cloth when you come back from a ride. If you don't do this your will have a terrible job cleaning it later, which will serve you right for procrastinating.

Before a show, or once a month at least, your whole bridle should be taken apart buckle by buckle and cleaned thoroughly. If the buckles won't unbuckle, let it be a lesson to you; not enough oil.

Making a bit shine like new is not easy. There are a number of good metal polishes but I like Glass Wax.

Spread the polish over the bit and rub hard with a clean dry cloth, and the bit will sparkle.

Curb chains will also respond to this treatment, even the dullest looking. Pour a little Glass Wax into your hand, rub the curb chain between your palms so the polish gets into every link, then rub vigorously with a dry cloth.

The saddle and girth MUST be kept clean or your horse may easily get a sore back. Feel the edge of your girth; if it feels like a wooden saw, invest in another bottle of neatsoot oil and get to work. It is a lot easier to prevent a saddle sore than to cure it.

Allowing your horse to fall upon your saddle will not do it much good. There are better ways to soften the leather. Lexol again. Neatsoot oil should be used sparingly, if at all, and do not use oil on any part of the saddle that might come in contact with your new buff breeches. You'll be sorry.

Artist Broadhead Paints Grey Team For Hickox Family

Kasachabar is not Russian for Syosset as its owner patiently explains, but the first two letters of the first names of Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. Hickox's five children. They appear on the cover of The Chronicle this week as Artist W. Smithson Broadhead saw them from a Freudy photograph of the team taken in 1942. Needless to say Mr. Broadhead has done a great job for each of the greys in this pluperfect family team shows clearly the individual characteristics that identify each.

Mrs. Hickox recently gave this picture to her husband on the occasion of their 20th wedding anniversary. It shows the family lined up next to their father in the following order: Katrina, Sarane, Bark and Chat. Mr. Hickox' grey is a mare acquired from Mary Barbin. She is by Breast Plate out of a Farina and has this year gone to Peterski at Burling Cock's Unionville farm where the famous Maryland Hunt Cup winner is completing his 2nd season at stud. The second grey is a polo pony type from the stable of George Hudson at Smithtown. About 14 hands, she was hunted regularly by Katrina for several years and is a fine type of lightweight child's hunter.

The next two ponies Rhosyn and Rhydd show the advantage of some Arab blood crossed on Welsh ponies. It gives a quality and breediness to either Welsh or Shetland ponies. The last, Silver Shilling is a pure Welsh pony about 12:2. This team was understandably enough a sensation on Long Island in '41 and '42 competing successfully at both Helping Hand and Piping Rock when the two twins were six, Sarane eight and Katrina eleven.

Bryce Wing who was judging at Piping Rock in 1942 liked the team so much he had Freudy send him one of the photographs for his album of outstanding events while Mrs. Gerard Smith said she thought it was the most outstanding win she had ever judged. Mr. Broadhead with his eye for color and conformation had a field day. The result is a most striking portrait.

that get muddy or dusty or wet or dried out at the least provocation. They also, when new, wrap themselves around gateposts and break. There is an old saying that Your Hands Should be Your Martingale. After years of intensive research I have decided that this saying comes from the fact that it is easier to wash your hands than to keep a martingale clean.

The next time you are confronted with all your dirty tack, a couple of bridles, a saddle, and a martingale or two, give a thought to the Indians. Perhaps they had the right idea; they rode bareback with nothing more than a rope looped around the pony's lower jaw. For corinthian classes one could always add a feather tied into the knot, dyed in your hunt colors.

In the Country

BOBANET STABLE

Late Saturday afternoon is a quiet time around R. Bruce Livie's Bobanet Stable near Stevenson, Md. Horses are fed and the turn-outs are free from the sun and the flies for the night hours. The attractive stables have quite a number of different horses, including juveniles, handicap horses, stallions, etc. Several horses had been given their last check over and were leaving the following Monday for the tracks but not Trenton, the 6-year-old by Karneekel—Florence M., by The Scout. He is resting up and will get back to the races later on in the season. Among the stallions, one to immediately catch the eye is Greek Warrior which is by *Mahmoud—Gay Crest, by *Pharamond II and was foaled in 1942. This grey stallion made his first season at stud this year and if he passes along his conformation alone, there will be some good looking foals around the countryside. Bobanet, the 8-year-old bay horse by *Cohort—Flying Pennant, by *North Star III is a top individual and along with the other stallions, has a grand disposition.

WIN AND PLACE

Bayard Tuckerman, Jr. is another owner who has horses at more than one track and on June 30 his colors were seen at both Delaware Park and Aqueduct. In the first race at Delaware, for maiden 2-year-olds, his Blandystone left the maiden ranks in no uncertain terms. Named for Mr. Tuckerman's former estate in Massachusetts, the 2-year-old bay gelding by *Easton—Maupace chalked up his victory while Joe Hogan raced over hurdles at Aqueduct to place behind J. Mulford's Proceed.

ZONE FOUR'S CHAIRMAN

William H. Perry, whose show team has just returned from a highly successful tour of the northern circuit, is now busily engaged working up the details for the selection of candidates for the Olympic team for Zone 4. He is one of the vice-presidents of the International Equestrian Competitions Corp. and as such is chairman of this zone which comprises Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and the District of Columbia. Andrew Montgomery of Uno, Va. has been appointed treasurer of the Zone 4 group. The selection in this zone may be made with an Olympic class held in connection with one of the Virginia shows if present plans materialize.

DEEP RUN'S NEW MASTER

Latest Master of Hounds is George Scott of Richmond, Virginia who will take over the Deep Run Mastership and will carry the horn himself. Mr. Scott is a most enthusiastic foxhunter and made a European fox-hunting tour last winter, an account of which he very kindly sent The Chronicle. Deep Run has been enlarging and developing their country ever since the war. Under the joint-Mastership of Dr. John Hughes and Oliver Jackson Sands, Jr. who took over from Dr. Asa Shield in 1947, Deep Run has been providing both fox and drag hunting over a large country southwest along the James River and across it into Powhatan, Cumberland and Chesterfield counties.

HOME-BRED PRODUCT

A Virginia breeder who has been consistently breeding and racing his own winners is Colin Macleod of Upperville. Most successful of Mr. MacLeod's string of winners this year is Torr a 3-year-old that has now won 5 out of 8 starts, and 2 out of 3 of his races at the recently concluded Delaware Park meeting. Torr is also out of a home-bred mare, Upcheck, she by Pilate. The colt is by Rosemont who stands at William duPont's farm at Boyce, Virginia. He was not raced at 2, having bucked his shins.

OFF TO THE RACES

Dinwiddie Lampton of Louisville had the ride at Middleburg on E. W. Dozier, Jr.'s Ballyskylight, falling at 2nd. Leaving the airport at Louisville, he was looking out of the window of the plane at the country not far from which he had often hunted with hounds. Suddenly he peered more closely out the window and rubbed his eyes. Then he looked again. Sure enough just 100 feet from the air strip where the plane was revving up its motors, sat a nice red fox. His ears were cocked and he was watching the proceeding with evident interest. He sat on his haunches, his ears flicked, and every once in-a-while he gave a cautionary look behind him just to be sure no bird monsters were coming up from behind.

As the plane moved off, headed for Washington, Mr. Lampton saw his fox get up and trot off back into the country whence he had come but not before Mr. Lampton, had made a View Haloo to the Stewardess who in turn had given a Tally Ho to the pilot. A message was duly sent to the control tower, "Fox on the runway," and the pilot might have added, "Seeing his old friend Dinwiddie off to the races".

HEE-HAW

Over the hill trailed a man behind a mule drawing a plow. Said the man to the mule: "Bill, you are a mule, the son of a jackass, I am a man, made in the image of God. Yet, here we work, hitched up together year in and year out. I often wonder if you work for me or if I work for you. Verily, I think it is a partnership between a mule and a tool, for surely I work as hard as you. Plowing, we cover the same distance, but you do it on four legs and I on two. Therefore do twice as much work per leg as you do."

When the crop is harvested, I give one-third to the landlord. One third goes to you and the balance is mine. You consume all of your portion except the cobs, while I divide mine among all my seven children, six hens, two ducks and a banker. If we both need sloes, you get 'em. Bill, you are getting the best of me. Is it fair for a mule, the son of a jackass, to swindle a man, a lord of creation, out of his subsistence? You only plow. I cut, shock and husk the corn. You look over the pasture fence and hee-haw.

The only time I am better than you is on election day. But after election I realize that I was fully as great a jackass as your papa. And that isn't all, Bill. When you are dead that's the end of you. But me? The person tells me when I die I gotta go to hell.

Tell me, Bill, considering these things, how can you keep a straight face and look so dumb?—T. E. B.

up the most credit over the 5 week period.

Credit points were totaled to give the winner of the President's Cup while actual scores over the course, not counting handicaps, were totaled with one score deductible to give the winner of the championship.

The mathematics involved were too complicated for spectators to follow but it was a pleasure to see the confidence people had in the system in this day and age when show results are so frequently questioned by both exhibitors and spectators.

Eventual winner of the senior president's cup was Maj. Gordon Gayford's Rocket. This bay gelding has earned the respect from show fans all over Ontario for his consistent honesty and his win in the president's cup proved the fairness of the handicapping system. Tied with Dr. J. B. Chassel's Flying Saucer for the final performance, Rocket won the jump-off to give him the highest point score for the cup. He also won the championship symbolized by the Kerr Trophy for the lowest total of actual faults for the series. Mrs. Hugh Wilson's Worth was the reserve. R. H. Rough piled up sufficient points for the cup to be runner up to Rocket.

The Chassel's entry missed one performance when he was taken to the Buffalo horse show but Rocket completed his performance at Eglington, loaded and shipped to Buffalo that night and competed there next day. Both horses strengthened the competition from Canada at the Buffalo show.

F. E. I. rules were used throughout the Eglington series, interesting and variable courses were set up from week to week with the senior horses jumping 6 inches higher than the junior.

The president's junior cup went to Miss Cecil Phillips with her American Thoroughbred Teslin, Gerry Wood's Brown Lass was runner up. Miss Sandra Powell won the junior championship and the Hastings-True Trophy with Rocket's Flicka, while Miss Janet Rough got reserve with Tom Gayford's Fancy Free.
